Nothing to Running a Show!

We quote from a personal letter from Mellie to Gram written Sunday morning before they left Boston for the big city:

You would have thought if I had told you when I left Norway that I would be running a show on Keith's circuit that I was looking into the unknown future! I am—here is the show and they call it mine.

Between you and I, it is not such a big job if someone will furnish the brains and pay the bills. All I have to do is to fiddle a little and do a little stage talk and it is all just as easy as falling off a log.

Last Sunday Mr. Boyer of Wayside Inn took us to Concord and we saw the spot where the little U. S. A. started. We saw where the first British soldiers who were killed in the Revolution were buried and the tablets and monuments. A very interesting spot, don't you think where we shall be in N. Y. but will let you know when we get settled. The Hippodrome will get us all right anyway.

JESUS AND NICODEMUS

LESSON TEXT—John 3:1-17. GOLDEN TEXT—For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life.—John 3:16.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Nicodemus Visits Jesus

JUNIOR TOPIC—A Ruler Visits Jesus by Night

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What Nicodemus Learned From Jesus

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The New Birth

1. The History of Nicodemus (vv. 1, 2; Cf. 7:45-52; 19:38-42).

The lesson of today tells us the significance in the light of Nicodemus' visit to Jesus. He was a learned rabbi, a doctor of the law, and presumably a man of good character. His coming by night indicates his timidity. Like Joseph of Arimathea he was afraid to openly espouse the cause of the new teacher of Galilee. Though timid, as an honest man he investigated and got first-hand information. Because of this information he uttered the brave words in the Sanhedrin against judging a man before hearing him (John 7:45-52), and he also rendered the loving service at the Lord's tomb (John 19:38-42).

2. Jesus' Discourse With Nicodemus (vv. 3-17).

The subject of this conversation was the new birth.

1. The Necessity of the New Birth (vv. 3-7).

It is not a matter of choice whether one is to be born again, but of necessity, if he is ever to see or enter the kingdom of God. Regeneration is the first demand the gospel of Christ makes upon man.

(1) The Kingdom of God is a spiritual kingdom, therefore there must be a spiritual birth in order to enter it (v. 3). As we enter the physical kingdom by a natural birth, so we enter the kingdom of God by a supernatural birth.

(2) The nature which we get through the natural birth is radical and essentially bad (v. 6; cf. Gal. 6:10-21). That which is born of the flesh is flesh. The flesh cannot be improved (Jer. 17:9); cultivate and educate it all you please and it will still remain flesh. In order to enter into the kingdom of heaven there must be a nature fitted for heaven. There is nothing that can be substituted for the new birth. Men today are trying to substitute morality and education for the new birth. Nicodemus possessed these, yet Christ declared that he needed something more. It is no more possible to have a physical being without a physical birth than it is to have a spiritual nature without being born of the spirit.

2. The Mystery of the New Birth (v. 8-13).

Though mysterious, its results are definite. We cannot discern from whence the wind cometh, or whither it goeth, but we know that it blows by its effects. The fruits of our life demonstrate our nature, whether it is heavenly or carnal. We need not be told that we have had a physical birth, for our bodies with their various faculties prove it. Even so, the presence within us of a nature which has no affinity for the things of the world, but a strong affection for God and a disposition to yield prompt obedience to His commands, proves that we have been born from above.

3. The Ground Upon Which the New Birth Rests (vv. 14, 15).

Christ's atoning death on the cross makes regeneration possible. He took the place of sinners. His infinite merit was placed to their account; He suffered in the sinner's stead.

4. For Whom Salvation Was Provided (vv. 16, 17).

"Whosoever believeth on Him." These verses give in a condensed form the whole plan of salvation. Observe:

(1) Its source—"God so loved." (2) Its ground—the death of Christ—"He ever." (3) Its condition—"believeth on Him." Its results—"should not perish, have everlasting life."

III. Man's Attitude Toward Christ (vv. 18-21).

1. Some Believe and Are Saved. Those who believe are now free from condemnation (John 3:24). They are not only saved now but forever (John 10:28, 29).

2. Some Will Not Believe and Are Therefore Resting Under the Condemnation of God.

The awful sin which causes men to be eternally lost is unbelief in Christ. The cause of their unbelief in Him is their love of sin. Refusal to come to Christ proves that men's deeds are evil and that they love darkness rather than light.

An exceptionally large attendance was present and the activities for the coming winter season were talked over and discussed. The business meeting was held first and the following officers for the coming year were selected:

Pres.—Joseph Pitts.
1st Vice Pres.—H. H. Sampson.
2nd Vice Pres.—Ralph Knight.
Treasurer—J. B. Smith.
Secretary—H. E. Smith.
Ass't Sec.—C. D. Denison.

This club is a live organization and it has done much for the welfare of the town and the community at large. It is open to membership to any male citizen of the town and the list of members is nearly two hundred. The object of the club is to promote the social, moral, and industrial welfare of the community.

Speakers are brought in from the outside for nearly every meeting, with some subject for the welfare of the people in this community. Some night it may be an agricultural lecture, another night an industrial lecture, another night a lecture on beautifying the town, another on the summer tourist trade, and so on. Harrison is being widely known for its public utility and it was through the efforts of this club and many an advertising scheme or a worthwhile project has been set going.

The club goes still further than this and it realizes that it has a great asset in its young people and it is doing much to promote the social, physical and moral welfare of its youth. The residents of this town are beginning to realize that they have a real job upon their hands to first of all turn their attention to the men and women of tomorrow of this section and for this reason a Junior Men's Club has been formed and also social and educational gatherings are held for their benefit. Each year this small town sponsors one of the largest and finest father and son parties to be found anywhere in the state. The winter sports which have been made competitive for these youngsters has done much for their well being and during the winter days on Saturday it is nothing unusual to see several large teams drive in from various sections of the Harrison region, coming as many as ten or twelve miles, bring in the children of the small country school house to spend the day in the village in winter sports, or perchance it may be an indoor track meet, or indoor competitive games. These events have proven extremely popular for the younger generation and it is an excellent thing to gather these boys and girls in an all day festival of this kind. Dinner is always served to them at noon and at night they pile in the big punge and travel home happy and delighted for their day's experience. This is only one of the many fine things the wide awake organization is doing.

The meeting last evening and the first of the new year was given over in part to the Maine Booster's Club and the large gathering was addressed by F. E. Farnsworth of Portland, who brought to the people his new undertaking of the scheme to advertise Maine in the new Maine Coach, which is to start out in the near future on a 16,000 mile trip to advertise Maine and Maine products. After his remarks, another meeting of this club was called in session and the discussion of the advisability of this small community endeavoring to raise the sum of $500.00 to advance the Harrison region of Maine, through the Harrison Men's Club. There was a general sentiment of feeling that the project was certainly worth while and that the town wanted to do her part in this advertising proposition of Maine as well as the Harrison and Long Lake region. This town in the past two years has raised nearly a thousand dollars to boost Harrison and last summer it is estimated that the business of this community increased at least 25 per cent. Pres. Joseph Pitts, newly elected, who is a firm believer in this scheme of the country, and who has done much for the Harrison Region and in the outlying districts, spoke most favorably on this project and he, with a committee, Tuesday evening, Jan. 5, in the room of the Norway Hotel, after the details are arranged, the sum will readily come. Nearly $200.00 was pledged.

They believe that a Harrison Men's Club sign on this bus, which is to travel over 10,000 miles before the first of June will do much to let the people of Maine and of other states know that this region is in full sympathy with the advertising Maine projects.

A very delightful entertainment was furnished, as follows:

Piano solo—Miss Mona Greene.
Solemn—Orchestra.
Vocal solo—Mrs. Frances Pitts.

The Oxford United Parish

CO-OPERATION THAT WILL BRING FARM RELIEF

BY DON C. SEITZ

We told you last week that we would have something to write about for this week, and sure enough we have. We must tell you about the Council meeting we had last Thursday. The people gathered for the business meeting soon after dinner. There were delegates from all over the parish, from Albany on the north, from East Waterford, Waterford Flat and North Waterford. J. B. Pike, of Bridgton, was present, representing the Methodist Conference, and A. V. Bliss, of Portland, was the delegate from the Congregational State Missionary Society. At least the last named represented the Society after he arrived. Thereby hangs quite a story. He was driving through from Portland with Mrs. Ives, and the trip had some exciting moments. We would like to tell you about it, but really we have not the time. That is one of the things you missed by not being there. Finally, we had to send the President of the Council, Wilson Morse, to bring them over from Norway. However, the business could not wait for them, and so the meeting was opened with the assistant moderator, Harold Pike, in the chair. Various matters were discussed and acted upon. A schedule was presented by Mr. Townsend, which will take the three ministers to every church in the parish, for at least one Sunday a month, and will also give a chance for meetings to be held in some of the nearby schools. This schedule will be followed as soon as Mr. Thurston, a vote of sympathy was taken in which the hope of the Council was expressed that he might quickly be restored to his wonted strength and health. Encouraging reports have been received from him and he is expected to be with us again soon. The notice of a proposed change in the Constitution was given to allow the Council to meet to discuss it, ship any whom it may consider wise for the interests of the parish to have as a member of the Council. One action was also taken that it is to be hoped will delight the congregations as much as the ministers. The latter are to have a month's vacation, and that in addition to the time that they may spend in attendance at Conferences, and in any other gatherings they may attend in the interests of the work. One of the gifts that had been received by the treasurer of the United Parish, Mrs. Ives, was set apart for the use of the staff in such ways as they might deem wise, especially in the sending of cheer to those who are sick in the parish, or are at the hospitals for treatment. The making of a survey of the parish was also considered and this was left in the hands of the Staff to be carried out as they think best. The question of social activities was also discussed, and among other things it was decided to have a winter carnival in the parish later in the winter. So we suppose we will have to get out our snowshoes and skis and lumber up.

Well, about that time things did begin to lumber up in the Council meeting, for the ladies told us that supper was ready, and you know what happened about that time. More than that the very best of the parish, which had not been represented at the business meeting, arrived with a double team and a whole lot of people who were just filled with the real United Parish spirit of getting together. It was great to see them all, and to realize that the heaven of neighborhoods, the life of the United Parish was really at work. After the bountiful supper, provided by the ladies of the North Waterford Circle, had made those present feel better—or at least a little more comfortable—the evening was closed with two interesting talks given by Mrs. Ives and Mr. Bliss. The first speaker brought her very hearty new year wish for the parish, that more and more we may be united in a spirit of harmony with the spirit of Jesus. Mr. Bliss set before us with many stories and interesting facts that our religion calls for, not creeds, but for real living day by day the principles of Christ. The song at the close expressed the prayer that is in the hearts of all who are interested in this larger parish and the highest interests of this whole countryside—that the hearts of all here may be bound together with Christian love for the purpose of building a more abundant life in every home and in the whole community.

The papers say that it snowed Saturday in several places in New England. Something of the sort happened around here. So much of it happened at least, that the Grange at North Waterford postponed the big event planned for that night, and the next morning the church at Albany decided to postpone.

Mr. Bliss at the piano. The evening was closed with two interesting talks given by Mrs. Ives and Mr. Bliss. The first speaker brought her very hearty new year wish for the parish, that more and more we may be united in a spirit of harmony with the spirit of Jesus. Mr. Bliss set before us with many stories and interesting facts that our religion calls for, not creeds, but for real living day by day the principles of Christ. The song at the close expressed the prayer that is in the hearts of all who are interested in this larger parish and the highest interests of this whole countryside—that the hearts of all here may be bound together with Christian love for the purpose of building a more abundant life in every home and in the whole community.

CO-OPERATION THAT WILL BRING FARM RELIEF

BY DON C. SEITZ

President Calvin Coolidge in his recent address, in which he stressed the importance of co-operation among the farmers, urged closer co-operation among them, the building of bigger barns, and the holding of crops for better markets. In short, he urged the farmers to co-operate with the trusts and combines. Farmers and workmen being exempt from the operations of the anti-trust laws, there was no impropriety in the advice. Its weakness lies in the fact that it will not work, and that, if it did, great hardship would result to the consumers of the country.

All wealth comes from the soil or the forest. Part of it comes from the reproductive powers of nature; part from looting the storehouses of the earth. The first is perpetual, the second destructive. We capitalize the mines and oil wells, but their end is zero. Not so the farm and sea. Therefore the farm does not require anything in the nature of a sinking fund or amortizing of profits to cover its expansion. In this respect the farm is the most advantageously situated capitalist. He can feed himself, his family, and his stock, and be therefore invulnerable against economic disaster, to which other investors are exposed. Where the farmer fails is when he neglects this fundamental and strives, as the cotton, wheat, and corn growers do, to make one crop count for all his requirements. This brings him the need of money and all the incidental embarrassments, if prices are low and his necessities high—as they all too often are.

It is to remedy the situation of such as these that farm blocs foment in Congress and fracture the peace of parties. The one-crop men are the problem. That should be solved, diversify growth, however, means the marketing of a surplus beyond the needs of the farm, whether the crops grown be one or many. The farmer must have a bank account, or the need of it, even if bins and cellar be full and the family fat. How can he get it?

Certainly not by the President's proposed method. Several of our fire hundred thousand farmers and their families cannot combine to hold up the other two-thirds of the populace, who could be made the victims of extortion beyond that set apart for the use of the staff in such ways as they might deem wise, especially in the sending of cheer to those who are sick in the parish, or are at the hospitals for treatment. The making of a survey of the parish was also considered and this was left in the hands of the Staff to be carried out as they think best. The question of social activities was also discussed, and among other things it was decided to have a winter carnival in the parish later in the winter. So we suppose we will have to get out our snowshoes and skis and lumber up.

Well, about that time things did begin to lumber up in the Council meeting, for the ladies told us that supper was ready, and you know what happened about that time. More than that the very best of the parish, which had not been represented at the business meeting, arrived with a double team and a whole lot of people who were just filled with the real United Parish spirit of getting together. It was great to see them all, and to realize that the heaven of neighborhoods, the life of the United Parish was really at work. After the bountiful supper, provided by the ladies of the North Waterford Circle, had made those present feel better—or at least a little more comfortable—the evening was closed with two interesting talks given by Mrs. Ives and Mr. Bliss. The first speaker brought her very hearty new year wish for the parish, that more and more we may be united in a spirit of harmony with the spirit of Jesus.
